Five-sixths of the state of Oregon has never been mapped by the United States geological survey. Only a narrow strip around the outer edges has been visited by this great department of government and all the vast interior is as much unknown to the government engineers, so far as this branch of work is concerned, as the desert of Sahara.

When this is taken into consideration, something of the need of government recognition of the west is realized. Older states have been mapped and surveyed and stakes and monuments have been planted on almost every section. The surfaces of the older states are open pages of a book which may be ready by any observer traveler.

But in the great interior of Oregon, not a familiar sign is to be seen. Topography, elevation, water supply, character of soil, geological formation—all are sealed pages to the seeker after knowledge.

The East Oregonian believes that the state should increase its appropriation for this purpose. The government stands ready to bear one-half of the expense. It is an opportunity to turn the light on Oregon's resources, from a scientific and practical standpoint.—East Oregonian.

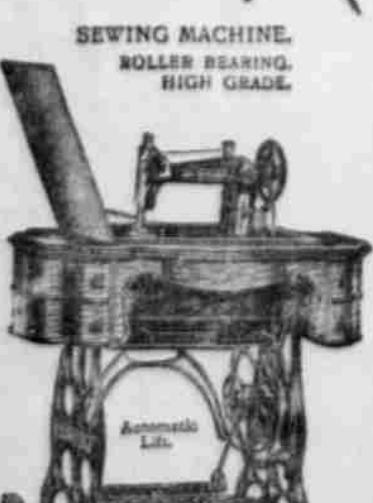

A press dispatch from Washington says: If congress adheres to the recommendations of Secretary Hitchcock, the livestock interests of the west will be compelled to pay tribute to the government for the use of the public domain of the western states of upwards of $50,000,000 per annum. There are upwards of 500,000,000 acres of land in the western states known as public lands. These are lands on which settlement has not been made. The title is in the government. They are open to homestead entry under the homestead laws. If the recommendations of Secretary Hitchcock are accepted by congress no further entry can be made upon this land.

A married couple was coming out of the house and they were speeding down the street, says an exchange, he dressed to kill and she with a hair pin in her mouth and doing her best to pull on a pair of refractory gloves. "Why don't you dress in the house," he growled. "I would as soon see a woman put on her stockings in the street as her gloves." "Most men would," she said sweetly, and then the silence was so intense that you could hear a chocolate drop.

Every Heart-Ache

Every pain in the breast, difficult breathing, palpitation, fluttering or dizzy spell means that your heart is straining itself in its effort to keep in motion. This is dangerous. Some sudden strain from over-exertion or excitement will completely exhaust the nerves, or rupture the walls or arteries of the heart, and it will stop.

Relieve this terrible strain at once with Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. It invigorates and strengthens the heart nerves and muscles, stimulates the heart action, and relieves the pain and misery.

Take no chances; make your heart strong and vigorous with Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

"I suffered terribly with heart disease. I have been treated by different physicians, went to Memphis without results. Went to a Dr. physician in Memphis, who claimed that I had dropped the heart. I had the X-ray on me, and in connection with his medicine he came near making me believe that I had dropped the heart. A Mr. Young of St. Louis was in our town. He saw my condition, and told me to go to him. He gave me little attention until my return from Memphis, when I continued to try it, and am pleased to say three bottles of Dr. Miles' Goodrich.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that it will benefit. You will be fully refund your money if you do not like it.
